Something you're known for: Helping people

Since opening Survivor Gals Specialty Boutique and Salon, has your outlook toward cancer changed?

Yes. I see so many people who have had such positive outcomes with their treatments that I know cancer can be beat.

Surely you've heard some inspiring stories in the salon; are there any that stand out for you? It's hard to pick one. We hear so many inspiring stories from so many incredible women.

What are some of the products or services offered by Survivor Gals that women starting cancer treatment may need but are not be aware of? We have wicking pajamas for night sweats, a specialty skin care line, eyebrow kits, post-surgical camisoles that hold drain bulbs and really great looking wigs.

How do first-time customers react when they realize they've discovered a place just for them? They feel relieved. They can find all of the things they need in one location, and they are amazed at how great they look no matter what they are going through. They love our great hair salon where friends and family can be pampered, too.
